

So you want to make it big and get that record contract, right? Why? So you can make great music for millions of people around the world? For fame, fortune, and the good life? Or do you just want to hang the paper on your wall as a reminder that someone else is really pulling the strings? (You're supposed to say no to that one: skip the middle man, we just want you to be heard)

launch

<http://www.launch365.net>